Jace Steenbarger

Process Extraordinaire & Operations Dude

Just the facts!

Jace is incredibly inquisitive and a die-hard process guy. In a previous life, he has over a decade of experience as a graphic designer and art director, working with clients to understand their vision and bring it to life. After relocating to Chicago, he was bitten by the software bug. Jace comfortably straddles the line between “techie-nerd” and “down-to-Earth every-man,” and is able to communicate equally to both. As a result, he has worked with numerous stake holders to manage projects and create processes that successfully increased the quality of deliverables and decreased time to market. This unique history gives him a special knack in the understanding and development of project requirements, while keeping a watchful eye on the user experience. This all comes together to ensure our customers receive solutions with efficiency and ease of use at the forefront, while maintaining a professionally designed look.

And now for the fun stuff!

You’re going to get to know us over time, but here’s a jump start. If you’re stuck with Jace at a coffee shop, road trip, or on-site meeting, here’s some of his favorite things that will be sure to get the conversation going.

Things Jace will talk about for hours:

1. Jace likes Star Wars. OK, he loves Star Wars. Actually, ‘love’ might not be a big enough word either.
2. Jace went to art school. He paints, creates props, and collects all kinds of pop culture “stuff.” Yes, he even has lighted display cases in his house.
3. Movies? Bring ‘em on! Jace loves a good, original sci-fi flick. Music? Get ready for the 80’s flashback!
4. Jace and his wife have a daughter. He likes to pretend he’s a toughie, but she has him wrapped around her finger.
