PRISM HQ

Why Us?

What Makes PrismHQ Different From the Rest

Simplicity in both price and features

Many software platforms are trying to be "everything for everyone", going very deep on features – and charging you for them whether you need them or not. PrismHQ provides manufacturing management supported by a wide breadth of functionality to cover all the main areas of your business at a reasonable price.

Custom tailored for the perfect fit

Our roots as a custom software development company allowed us to work with many growing manufacturers over the years - we felt their pain time and time again. We've taken this experience to create a modular system that relieves your pain and can be customized to fit your process like a well tailored suit.

Do more with your current workforce

PrismHQ automates manual tasks, removes redundant work, and increases accuracy with its integrated design. All your data lives in one interconnected place to cut nuisance task hours and let your workforce focus on using their valuable skill sets to drive business forward.

Integration is a core principle of our company

With over two decades of experience with enterprise software integration, PrismHQ is designed from the ground up with integration at its core. From QuickBooks to Salesforce and many other off-the-shelf products, PrismHQ is the hub that can connect them all.

Small and personal by design

Working with us is a partnership not a transaction. Our core team is involved in every project so we can maintain a high level of quality service that puts your needs front and center. Despite the common cliché that "business isn't personal," we fully believe that business is personal. We're just like you; we've put blood, sweat and determination into building this business, and we bring that moxie into every project we work on.
